

Survey Questionnaire (English)

Start of Block: Consent

Dear,

Researchers from the Federal Government, the World Bank, Ghent University, and the University of São Paulo invite you to participate in a key survey to design improvements in public administration.

The objective of the survey is to develop a systematic approach to study and improve public administration in Brazil. The survey aims to diagnose the needs, attitudes, motivations, organizational environments, and general practices of public servants and their organizational units. The study encompasses federal public administration employees, with a special focus on the public procurement function.

This survey is conducted with the utmost confidentiality by professional researchers who will keep your responses secure. No one outside the research team will be able to associate the individual responses you provide with your identity, and your data will never be shared with anyone, including anyone in the government. The published data will be completely anonymous. Your identity will not be communicated or disclosed under any circumstances.

In this survey, there are no right or wrong answers. The researchers are only interested in your opinion. Your contribution will be extremely valuable. Your participation is voluntary, and you can withdraw from the survey or skip questions at any time without penalties or consequences of any kind. The survey has an average duration of 15 minutes.

Although we do not foresee any potential benefits from your participation in the study, except for possible future improvements in public procurement practices, there are no known risks associated with your participation in this study beyond the risks of everyday life

If you have any questions or concerns about the survey, or wish to report a problem related to the study, please contact: Luis Meloni (luis.meloni@usp.br) or Juan Francisco Santini (jfsantini@worldbank.org).
