STUDY DESCRIPTION

SADA 0063 Aspects of Group Relations (Whites, Indians, Coloureds),
February 1984

PRINCIPAL INVESTIGATOR: Nic Rhoodie and Chris de Kock

DEPOSITOR: Human Sciences Research Council (HSRC)

DATA COLLECTION AGENCY: MarkData

ABSTRACT: Part of several studies, the aim of which was to collect information on intergroup relations. A joint investigation by the Institute for Sociological, Demographic and Criminological Research of the HSRC and the Committee for Research on Intergroup Relations.

GEOGRAPHIC LOCATION: South Africa

IMPORTANT VARIABLES: Political and economic situation, the Constitution, race relations, group areas and media use. White questionnaire also includes Government's record in handling national affairs, opinions toward opening listed amenities to all races, and attitudes towards immigrants and the immigration policy in general

DEMOGRAPHIC VARIABLES: Sex, age, language, education, occupation, marital status, income

UNIVERSE: All South African white, coloured and Indian adults in urban areas.

SAMPLING: Adapted white, coloured and Indian co-workers' panels of the Opinion Survey Centre of the HSRC were used. The samples were drawn country wide but did not include non-urban areas (farms and smallholdings) .A procedure of cluster sampling in randomly selected statistical regions, magisterial districts and enumerator subdistricts was used.

METHOD OF DATA COLLECTION: Face-to-face interview with a structured questionnaire.

TYPE OF DATA: Survey

UNITS OF OBSERVATION: Individuals

DATE OF DATA COLLECTION: February 1984

LANGUAGE(S) OF WRITTEN MATERIAL:

QUESTIONNAIRE: English RECORD LAYOUT: Afrikaans

EXTENT OF COLLECTION: 3 data files and machine-readable documentation

Multipurpose survey: Aspects of group relations

The Human Sciences Research Council often initiates studies on a wide range of social matters among all population groups.

The HSRC is at present busy with comprehensive research regarding intergroup relations in South Africa. Section C of this questionnaire is part of this project.

A number of knowledge questions on the image of South Africa are put to you in Section B.

For the purpose of this survey, the area in which you reside, as well as yourself, has been included at random (and therefore quite coincidentally) in the sample.

Your opinion is important for this type of research since you speak on behalf of thousands of other South Africans who think like you on certain matters. Therefore you do not have to be an expert in order to make a valuable contribution towards the present survey. Your name will not appear anywhere on the questionnaire and you are not required to sign the questionnaire or any other document. People who co-operate thus remain anonymous. The information that you provide in answering the questions is regarded as confidential.; it is processed by a computer in such a way that all personal identification references are erased.

If sufficient data justifying scientifically reliable deductions can be obtained, the findings of this research will be processed into a research publication.

SECTION B: IMAGE OF THE HUMAN SCIENCES RESEARCH COUNCIL

Because the HSRC considers all the people of South Africa as its partners in research, it is important that everyone should know what the HSRC does with the information obtained by means of opinion surveys. Such knowledge leads to understanding and trust, without which the HSRC cannot count on the co-operation of everyone whose honest opinion on matters of importance is obtained from time to time.

Only by determining what people know and think of the HSRC can the HSRC find out where there are shortcomings in its efforts to provide information and in its research services.

Your honest answers to the questions in Section B are therefore of the utmost importance to the HSRC.

Human Sciences Research Council

Opinion Survey Centre

Coloureds

Multipurpose survey: Aspects of group relations

The Human Sciences Research Council often initiates studies on a wide range of social matters among all population groups.

The HSRC is at present busy with comprehensive research regarding intergroup relations in South Africa. Section C of this questionnaire is part of this project.

A number of knowledge questions on the image of South Africa are put to you in Section B.

For the purpose of this survey, the area in which you reside, as well as yourself, has been included at random (and therefore quite coincidentally) in the sample.

Your opinion is important for this type of research since you speak on behalf of thousands of other South Africans who think like you on certain matters. Therefore you do not have to be an expert in order to make a valuable contribution towards the present survey. Your name will not appear anywhere on the questionnaire and you are not required to sign the questionnaire or any other document. People who co-operate thus remain anonymous. The information that you provide in answering the questions is regarded as confidential.; it is processed by a computer in such a way that all personal identification references are erased.

If sufficient data justifying scientifically reliable deductions can be obtained, the findings of this research will be processed into a research publication.

SECTION B: IMAGE OF THE HUMAN SCIENCES RESEARCH COUNCIL

Because the HSRC considers all the people of South Africa as its partners in research, it is important that everyone should know what the HSRC does with the information obtained by means of opinion surveys. Such knowledge leads to understanding and trust, without which the HSRC cannot count on the co-operation of everyone whose honest opinion on matters of importance is obtained from time to time.

Only by determining what people know and think of the HSRC can the HSRC find out where there are shortcomings in its efforts to provide information and in its research services.

Your honest answers to the questions in Section B are therefore of the utmost importance to the HSRC.

Human Sciences Research Council

Opinion Survey Centre

Indians

Multipurpose survey: Aspects of group relations

The Human Sciences Research Council often initiates studies on a wide range of social matters among all population groups.

The HSRC is at present busy with comprehensive research regarding intergroup relations in South Africa. Section C of this questionnaire is part of this project.

A number of knowledge questions on the image of South Africa are put to you in Section B.

For the purpose of this survey, the area in which you reside, as well as yourself, has been included at random (and therefore quite coincidentally) in the sample.

Your opinion is important for this type of research since you speak on behalf of thousands of other South Africans who think like you on certain matters. Therefore you do not have to be an expert in order to make a valuable contribution towards the present survey. Your name will not appear anywhere on the questionnaire and you are not required to sign the questionnaire or any other document. People who co-operate thus remain anonymous. The information that you provide in answering the questions is regarded as confidential.; it is processed by a computer in such a way that all personal identification references are erased.

If sufficient data justifying scientifically reliable deductions can be obtained, the findings of this research will be processed into a research publication.

SECTION B: IMAGE OF THE HUMAN SCIENCES RESEARCH COUNCIL

Because the HSRC considers all the people of South Africa as its partners in research, it is important that everyone should know what the HSRC does with the information obtained by means of opinion surveys. Such knowledge leads to understanding and trust, without which the HSRC cannot count on the co-operation of everyone whose honest opinion on matters of importance is obtained from time to time.

Only by determining what people know and think of the HSRC can the HSRC find out where there are shortcomings in its efforts to provide information and in its research services.

Your honest answers to the questions in Section B are therefore of the utmost importance to the HSRC.
