If rougher defects should appear, then the corresponding become Data records does not accept.

It lies for all parts of the question programme (household and person registers, child care, household and person questionnaire) in each case a list with plausibility checks forwards, which also the coherence examinations between the particulars Data records per household covers.

The checks are divided into warnings (W) and errors (E). Warnings occur then, if a characteristic development is not completely impossible, but nevertheless very improbable (zB the monthly social security amounts to 3000 €, the mother is only around 14 years older than the child etc.). These examinations should after technical possibility during the survey are accomplished; if this is not possible, further inquiries are to be made in a suitable way.

Since it concerns thereby frequently coherence examinations, these become probably outweighing only after End of the survey vornehmbar its.
