BURKINA FASO 2007

Geographical scope:

Burkina Faso

Principal investigator(s):

Simplicie Ngampou - the Head of Research RMS Senegal with the clients representative, Lori Bramwell-Jones, a Project Manager from Markinor in attendance. In addition, one field officer, regional coordinators, field supervisors and interviewers were all present for the briefing/training sessions.

Data Collection Organization:

The central briefing in Ouagadougou, Bobo Dioulasso center, Dori center

Fieldwork Period:

16-03-2007 - 25-03-2007.

Universe:

National Population, Both sexes, 16 and more years

Sample size:

1534

Questionnaire:

In order to facilitate the quality of field operations, the questionnaire was translated into French the official language in Burkina Faso. During the briefing session, the direct translation of the questionnaire was loosely translated into More and Dioula (the major languages spoken in Burkina Faso) for the purpose of common understanding and to facilitate communication should the interviewers encounter illiterate respondents. 20 pilot interviews were conducted among respondents from various demographics to check that questions were understandable and amend the wording of some questions when necessary. The following are problems encountered by or comments made by interviewers and supervisors working on this study: - The length of the questionnaire: almost all the respondents complained about the length that the interview was too long. Some respondents even had to stop the interview half way. - Some environmental concepts (such as in V111 - Global warming or the greenhouse effect-, V112 - Global warming or the greenhouse effect, V113 - Pollution of rivers, lakes and oceans) were difficult to explain to illiterate respondents. - Question V231 to V233: most of the respondents did not want to reveal which political party they would vote for if there were a national election - Question V 238: It was difficult for the respondents to state the total duration of their education, especially for older respondents. - Questions V242: Respondents felt somehow while answering to these questions because it has a direct link with their social status. Those working in the informal sectors considering themselves as professionals. - Question V253:

Respondents usually felt uncomfortable talking about their income. Its something confidential which is not easy to disclose.

Sample:

The survey was based on a representative sample of the population; both male and female respondents aged 16 years and above, who have stayed in the selected household for a period of at least six months and who are residents of Burkina Faso. Sampling is the process of selecting certain members of a group in such a way that they will represent the universe. Selection of respondents for the project followed a stratified Multi-Stage Random Selection Procedure as follows: Selection of Sectors/EAs: Sectors are defined as sampling blocks of equal geographical dimensions with identifiable boundaries, encompassing a substantial number of people. Sectors were divided into high, medium and low density areas. Each of the sectors was thereafter randomly selected from each area using the available street maps already sectorised into different density areas. Where maps are not available, especially for rural areas, an exhaustive list of all sectors was considered. The sample allocated to each density areas i.e. high/medium and low was proportionate to the number of sectors in each group. The overall sample for the urban and rural locations determined the number of sectors selected. However, a maximum of five (05) interviews were conducted in each randomly selected sector. All sectors were selected by a simple random method via a random numbered table. A group interviewing technique was adopted for the study across all the study locations. By this design, a team of interviewers under the leadership of a supervisor moved as a group to each selected sector, and then completed the assigned quota for that sector before moving to another sector. This afforded the supervisors the opportunity to closely monitor the interviewers under their charge. The questionnaire was precoded using the alphabet letters A to K excluding letter I. Selection of Sampling/Entering Points within each sector: Immediately after the selection of the sectors, the supervisors surveyed each of the selected sectors to determine the sampling/entering points of the sector. These are points where the team started their days interviewing. These can be prominent structures such as churches, mosques, schools, hospitals, etc. Selection of Dwelling Structure within each sector: In each of the randomly selected sectors, the Days Code was used to determine each interviewers starting point, i.e. [The first house/dwelling structure to enter/approach]. A dwelling structure is defined as a floor of a distinct residential building within a sector of a town/village; where only one household occupied a multi-storey building, the entire building [and not the floor] constituted a dwelling structure. Where it is a multi-storey building with multiple occupants, counting of floors was carried out consistently from the upper floor to the ground floor in an unbroken chain from floor to floor. A fixed sampling gap of one in three (1:3) and one in five (1:5) respectively was observed after each successful call in low, medium and high density areas. Selection of Household: On entering a selected dwelling structure, each interviewer determined the number of households within the structure. Having done that, the interviewer then used the household selection grid to determine the household where the interview would take place. A household is defined as the collective individuals living under the same roof and having a common feeding arrangement and also with a recognised person in the household as the head of household. Only residents who have stayed in the selected household for at least six [6] months were interviewed. Visiting relations who have stayed for less than six months were not regarded as household members. Substitution of Households: In the case where the selected room was unoccupied, interviewers were instructed to replace with the next household. Only one substitution was allowed per dwelling structure. Selection of Respondents: The selection of respondents was made randomly among the male and female household members. In order to select the final person to interview within the selected household, all the male and female residents of Burkina Faso, aged 16 years and above in the selected household were listed by name and age on the respondents selection grid on the questionnaires. The listing was done from the oldest to the youngest (males and females) and then one respondent was selected using the Kish grid a table of randomly generated numbers. Call Backs/Substitution Criteria: In the case where the selected adult in the household was not available at the time of the call, interviewers were instructed to make up to two additional recalls on different times of the day including evenings when the selected respondent was said to be at home. However, where the selected adult was not available for interviewing within the days of selection, interviewers were asked to regard such a case as a non-response situation or ineffective call. No substitution of respondents within the same household/dwelling structure was allowed. Coverage/Achievement: The training was organised in three central locations to cover the regions as follows: - The central briefing in Ouagadougou centre to cover: Ouagadougou and the following regions: Centre, Plateau Central, Centre-Nord, Centre-Ouest, Nord, Est, Centre-Est, Boucle du Mouhoun, Centre-Sud (28 interviewers, 5 supervisors and 4 quality controllers) - Bobo Dioulasso center to cover the following regions: Hauts Bassins, Cascades, Sud-Ouest (18 interviewers, 3 supervisors and 1 quality controller) - Dori center to cover the region of Sahel (6 interviewers, 1 supervisor and 1 quality controller) At the end of fieldwork, the total number of effective calls achieved was one thousand five hundred and forty six [1,546].

Survey procedure:

Missing

Fieldwork:

A face-to-face personal interviewing technique was used in respondents homes via a stratified multi-stage random sampling technique. The actual fieldwork commenced in Ouagadougou on 16 March 2007 while the fieldwork in other areas commenced a few days later. Fieldwork for the project lasted 10 days from 16 to 25 March 2007.

V115.- Imagine two secretaries, of the same age, doing practically the same job. One finds out that the other earns considerably more than she does. The better paid secretary, however, is quicker, more efficient and more reliable at her job. In your opinion, is it fair or not fair that one secretary is paid more than the other? (Code one answer):

Burkina Faso 2007(N=1534)

Imaginez deux secrétaires du même âge, faisant pratiquement le même travail. L'une découvre que l'autre gagne beaucoup plus qu'elle. La mieux payée des deux secrétaires est cependant plus rapide, plus efficace et plus fiable dans son travail. A votre avis, est-il honnête ou pas honnête qu'une des secrétaires soit mieux payée que l'autre? (Une seule réponse):

Use this scale where 1 means "top priority to help reducing poverty in the world" and 10 means "top priority to solve my own country's problems." (Code one answer):

Burkina Faso 2007(N=1534)

Par rapport aux problèmes de votre propre pays, les dirigeants de votre pays devraient-ils donner une grande priorité à l'aide à la réduction de la pauvreté dans le monde ou devraient-ils plutôt donner une grande priorité à la résolution des problèmes de votre propre pays ? Utilisez cette échelle où 1 signifie « grande priorité à l'aide à la réduction de la misère dans le monde » et 10 signifie « grande priorité à la résolution des problèmes de mon propre pays ». Others think that these problems should be left entirely to the national governments. I'm going to mention some problems. Certaines personnes pensent que certains genres de problèmes pourraient mieux être traités par les Nations Unies ou des Organisations régionales, comme la CEDEAO (Communauté Economique des Etats de l'Afrique de l'Ouest), que séparément par chaque gouvernement au niveau national. D'autres pensent que ces problèmes devraient être entièrement laissés aux gouvernements nationaux. Je vais citer quelques problèmes.
