CHAPTER 1. INTRODUCTION

This chapter provides an overview of the current Household Income and Expenditure Survey (HIES) operations and briefly explains your job as a supervisor, your job activities, and the jobs of the enumerators with whom you will work. It also contains the list of materials you will need to perform your job.

1A OVERVIEW OF THE SURVEY OPERATION

The HIES Day is June 06, 2005 in the Federated States of Micronesia. It is basically a 10 percent sample survey using the 2000 FSM Census listings and maps as frames. Some households with the selected Enumeration Districts and Blocks were randomly selected for the enumeration. Enumerators will basically do the enumerations and your job is to supervise their work. At the end of the operation, each of your enumerator should be able to complete a questionnaire, two sets of weekly diaries for each selected units, a set of completed forms in the listing record, and a map marking all the housing units enumerated with general updates.

The survey collects information on housing, individuals, household annual expenditures, and diaries for daily expenditures. You have been appointed to supervise the enumerators and you will be the main contact for enumerators when they confront problems in the field while collecting the information needed for the survey.

1B AIM OF THE SURVEY

The information is required among may reasons to:

- provide data for establishing Consumer Price Indexes for each State of the FSM and for the FSM as a whole;
- produce statistics on the distribution of income and expenditures throughout the FSM;
- provide data for use in the FSM National Accounts;
- provide nutritional information and food consumption patterns for FSM families; and most especially
- provide great benefit to the FSM government during the Compact Renegotiations with the government of the USA.

The other uses of this information can be found in the Appendices in the Questionnaire Reference Book (QRB).

1C CONFIDENTIALITY AND OTHER FACTS ABOUT THIS SURVEY

Confidentiality is a guarantee that the information individuals provide to the Division of Statistics, will not be revealed to others.

1C1 CONFIDENTIALITY

Public Law 5-77 prohibits employees from revealing any information contained in any questionnaire or report obtained from respondents to anyone except authorized survey staff. The oath of confidentiality (that you must take) restraint upon all survey staff and contractors to guard and keep these records confidential. Any printed publications issued by the Division of Statistics contain data only in summary form, and are prepared for the benefit of the public.

The following rules must be followed regarding unpublished information:

- a All questionnaires revealing data concerning individual respondents must be kept out of public view.
- b Doors must be locked when the statistic offices are without attendants.
- c Office personnel, supervisors, and enumerators must keep their questionnaires protected and confidential. It is important that survey employees understand that:
 - (1) They may be prosecuted for unauthorized disclosures, even if such disclosures are made after their employment for the survey has ended.
 - (2) They must not assign any part of their work to any unauthorized person.
 - (3) Only sworn survey workers may accompany an enumerator.
 - (4) Questionnaires and Diaries must not be placed where unauthorized persons will have access to them.
 - (5) Questionnaires completed by an enumerator must not be examined by other enumerators or employees except those who have official reason for doing so.
 - (6) Enumerators must not discuss survey information obtained for particular individuals or households with other enumerators or employees, except when officially required.
 - (7) Enumerators are forbidden to enter the name of any fictitious person on the questionnaire or to make any fictitious or untruthful statement concerning any persons or placed enumerated.

As a supervisor, you need to also know what your enumerators suppose to accomplish for this project.

1C2 SURVEY INFORMATION IS REQUIRED

All persons must answer, to the best of their knowledge, the inquiries shown on the questionnaires. There are penalties for persons over the age of 18 for failing to answer the questions. Enumerators must constantly report instances in which people not cooperating with the survey by giving the required information, but also gave additional assistance to help the enumerators in their duties. We also place a high value on this kind of cooperation and are counting on you to maintain it.

Any owner, proprietor, manager, superintendent, or agent of any building must allow the enumeration of all persons who live in the building or be subject to a fine.

1C3 NOTICE OF CONFIDENTIALITY

The Notice of Confidentiality guarantees the confidentiality of all data collected from any census or survey conducted in the FSM and requires that all agencies that collect information about individuals advise those individuals under what authority the information is being collected; to what uses the information will be put; whether response to questions is mandatory; and the effect of not responding. All persons contacted during the survey will be given a Notice of Confidentiality, FORM HIES-7.

1D YOUR SUPERVISOR

You will work under the direction of the State Survey Coordinator and the National Coordinator who will train you and help you in any difficult situation. Ask your supervisor if you have a question that is not answered in this manual or in the training session. If an enumerator quits or falls behind schedule, your supervisor will provide you with a replacement and suggest ways to complete the work on time.

1E YOUR JOB

As a supervisor, you are responsible for supervising a crew of about 3 to 5 enumerators assigned to you. The selection of well-qualified candidates is of the utmost importance to ensure the successful enumeration. Your most important responsibility is seeing that the operation assigned to you and your crew is completed accurately and on schedule. You are expected to take the necessary action(s) to ensure the timely and successful completion of the work and to keep your State Coordinator informed of potential delays or problems.

Specific details are given later in other chapters of this manual, but generally your supervisory tasks include:

- 1 Attending the training session for supervisors to learn enumeration procedures.
- 2 Learning the enumerators' job.
- 3 Participate in the training of your enumerators.
- 4 Supervise the Field Exercises during training.
- 5 Preparing and distributing enumerator assignments.
- 6 Conducting on-the-job training (as required).
- 7 Collecting enumerators' completed work.
- 8 Performing field reconciliation (if required) for a Block or ED.
- 9 Re-canvassing a Block or ED, if necessary.
- 10 Conducting first reviews, daily reviews, and final reviews of each enumerators' work.
- 11 Monitoring and reporting the progress of your staff using progress reports.
- 12 Visiting and enumerating households that refuse to cooperate with an enumerator.
- 13 Releasing enumerators who are unable to perform satisfactorily.
- 14 Reassigning work, when necessary. Those who have completed their assignment(s) may finish up the work of those unable to perform a satisfactory job. {NOTE: Those whose contract is extended should sign an amendment contract form when necessary.
- 15 Supervising and controlling the progress of enumeration in your assigned areas to ensure that work is completed on schedule.
- 16 Prepare a procedural history report for Phases I and II of the survey operation.

1F THE ENUMERATOR'S JOB

The enumerator is responsible for obtaining a completed HIES questionnaire and two weekly diaries for every household contained within his/her ED and marking the location of every housing unit selected for the survey on his/her ED map. Specific details regarding the enumerator's job are outlined in form HIES-13, Enumeration Instructions. Study this manual carefully, as your success as a supervisor will depend, in large part, on your knowledge of the enumerators' job. Part of your training as a supervisor may include the training for enumerators.

This section contains instructions on how to prepare for and conduct the enumerators' training.

2B PREPARING ENUMERATOR ASSIGNMENTS

Prepare enumerator assignments using the instructions in steps 1 through 3 below and the ED assignment numbers on your Supervisor Record of Assignments, HIES-17 (see Illustration 2-1 below).

Step 1: Make sure you have the Listing Record, and map pouch for each ED assigned to your supervised areas.

* That items 1-6 are filled on Form HIES-17 and, if not, fill them (see Illustration 2-1)

* Column 1 through 6 (see Illustration 12-2)

- a Ensure that each enumerator selected for an assignment has received all required supplies to complete his tasks.
- b Give each enumerator the LISTING RECORD, along with the corresponding census map, for his area.

2B2 DISTRIBUTING ASSIGNMENT FORMS HIES-17 FSM

Ensure that the assignment information you entered on HIES-17 FSM is correct and legible, then give your supervisor, State Survey Coordinator (SCC) copies of the forms.

2B3 REASSIGNING WORK

You may find it necessary to reassign work to another enumerator during enumeration, and only with the consent of the SCC.

Make your assignments based on the following:

- a An enumerator resigns before completing the assignment.
- b An enumerator is released for poor quality work or low production.

To reassign work for any of the reasons noted above, use the steps 1, 2, and 3 below AFTER you determine who will receive the reassigned work.

- Step 1: Select the enumerator for reassignment. The enumerator is selected for reassignment based on satisfactory job performance and willingness to work.
- Step 2: Correct the Listing Record - Daily Progress form on Personnel Section, FSM HIES-3 FSM, using the instructions in Illustration 2-5.

3D1 EXPECTED PRODUCTION

Each day an enumerator is expected to complete at least 1 questionnaire and have scheduled visit with at least 2 houses to review their diaries. An enumerator must try and complete as much questionnaires as possible so he/she can assist the households with their diaries.

3C2 MEETING WITH ENUMERATORS TO DISCUSS LOW PRODUCTION

Meet with the enumerator and determine any problem(s) that may be causing low production. Gather only the pertinent facts that identify the problem(s).

3C3 FACTORS THAT MAY CAUSE LOW PRODUCTION

Consider the following factors as cause for low production before giving specific directions for improvement:

- a The enumerator has a difficult area to cover.
- b The enumerator is not working the expected number of hours each week, or is working non-productive hours.
- c The enumerator is not organizing his or her materials efficiently.
- d The enumerator is wasting time by running errands or making repeated trips from home to the assignment area and back.

- e The enumerator is wasting time on the job by visiting or asking needless questions.
- f The enumerator may be skipping from one side of an assignment area to another.

3C4 STRATEGIES FOR INCREASING ENUMERATOR PRODUCTION

Select the most appropriate strategy(ies) described in a through d below to increase the enumerator's production.

- a Retrain the enumerator on any parts of the job that are not understood. Review enumerator's instructions, as necessary, with the enumerator.
- b Remind the enumerator of the hours that he or she agreed to work. Suggest more productive times to work, late afternoon, early evening and weekends.
- c Demonstrate how the enumerator can better organize his or her materials to use them more efficiently.
- d Tell the enumerator to stay in the assignment area and avoid trips back and forth to his or her home.

3D RELEASING ENUMERATORS

The guidelines and instructions in paragraphs 3F1 and 3F2 must be used to release an enumerator.

3D1 REASONS FOR RELEASING ENUMERATORS

- a When the results of an on-going review indicate that the enumerator is still unable to perform the job correctly, recommend that he or she be released.
- b If an enumerator cannot meet production or quality standards after having two workdays to improve, recommend that he or she be released.
- c If the enumerator does not keep his or her appointment with you, he or she will be released.
- d If an enumerator completes his or her work and there are no other assignments.

3D2 MATERIALS YOU MUST COLLECT

- a Each time your recommendation is granted for an enumerator to be released, you must collect all survey materials including the ID badge, and all other documents.
- b Document the reason for the release on a separate sheet of paper and give it to your supervisor immediately.

3E COMMUNICATING EFFECTIVELY WITH YOUR STAFF

- 1 Listen carefully to what your staff has to say about their progress, problems, and so forth.
- 2 Respond quickly to questions from your staff. If you do not know the answer to a question, do not bluff. Look for the answer in the enumerator instructions. If you cannot find the answer, ask your supervisor for assistance. Be sure to get the answer to the enumerators.

- 3 Point out mistakes in a constructive and diplomatic manner.
- 4 Offer suggestions for avoiding the same mistake(s) in the future.
- 5 Praise enumerators for a job well done.

3F MANAGING YOUR TIME WISELY

- 1 Review the job activities you need to do each day and set priorities for them.
- 2 Do not make unnecessary trips to the field. Try to accomplish several job tasks during a single trip.
- 3 Establish times when your staff can telephone or visit you for assistance. Inform your staff of these times.
- 4 Assign a specific time each day to collect HIES-20 FSM transmittals from your staff. Inform them of the appropriate time to meet you in the field to pick up their 20's and collect their work.

3G HELPFUL HINTS FOR BEING AN EFFECTIVE SUPERVISOR

- 1 Lead by example.
- 2 Plan your workday.
- 3 Show no favoritism.
- 4 Be honest and objective.
- 5 Tell the enumerators what is expected of them.
- 6 Do not put off making decisions.
- 7 Be accessible to your enumerators.
- 8 Offer constructive criticism in a diplomatic manner.
- 9 Keep written notes of each enumerator's questions in order to obtain accurate information.
- 10 Ask probing questions of enumerators to obtain accurate information.
- 11 Visit each of your staff in the field to review progress on a regular basis.
- 12 Give your enumerators specific instructions, and verify that they understand what you are requesting.
- 13 Deal with each enumerator on an individual basis. Be careful when you evaluate an enumerator's job performance. Keep in mind the difficulty of the assignment area.
- 14 Stay in control of all meetings with your enumerators.
- 15 Be ready to lend assistance to an enumerator who requires help.

- 16 Maintain daily communication with your supervisor.
- 17 When necessary, release enumerators in a professional and tactful manner.

3H WHAT TO DO WHEN AN ENUMERATOR FAILS TO SHOW UP FOR AN APPOINTMENT

- 1 The first time an enumerator does not show up, give the enumerator a warning. The warning should include the importance of meeting with you daily. You also must state that if it happens again, he/she will be released from his or her responsibilities and his/her pay will be held until all the enumeration materials are returned.
- 2 The second time the enumerator does not show up for an appointment, recommend release of the enumerator, and assign the remaining portion of the enumerator's work to another enumerator.

3I FIELD PROBLEMS

3I1 LANGUAGE PROBLEMS

Enumerators must notify the supervisor if they encounter language problems that cannot be resolved by an interpreter within the household.

When an enumerator reports a language problem, do the following:

- * Reassign the case to the appropriate language enumerator, if one is available.
- * Notify your Coordinator if you encounter widespread language problems, and you do not have enumerators on your crew who speak the language.
