Preface

It is a popular saying that population is not only about total figures but more importantly about its distribution across age and sex. These two variables determine the structure and composition of the population including its potential to grow. The main mission of a population census is to tell the story of the living conditions of the people at a particular time and give insight into how these conditions can be ameliorated. Definitely, there is no way the total story can be told if the age and sex structure of the population is not taken into consideration.

It is in recognition of this fact that the National Population Commission not only collected variables on the age and sex of respondents during the 2006 Population and Housing Census as it is consistent with global practices but also ensured that these data have been separately processed, analysed as being disseminated through this publication. The volume presents the Population Distribution of Nigeria by Age and Sex as captured during the 2006 Census. The data has been presented for each of the states and the Federal Capital Territory and the Local Government Areas of the Federation in five year age groups.

It is hoped that the publication of this volume will enhance the usefulness of the 2006 Census data for planning purposes. The data can serve as the nation's indispensable guide in the march towards sustainable development. The essence of development is to make concrete improvement in the living conditions of the people. Since the people have different needs and potentials across sex and age divides, planning for development must therefore be gender sensitive and reflect the various needs of the different age groups in the society. This is the best way any development can be for all.

It is our hope that planners in all sectors of our nation life will avail themselves of the rare insights offered into Nigeria's population structure by this publication and similar ones that have been produced under the 2006 Census Data Dissemination series in order to make development planning more responsive.

The Commission is grateful to individuals, state and local governments as well as the development partners who all contributed to the successful conduct of the 2006 Census.

Notes

This section provides information on the arrangement of this publication and explanation of some concepts used.

This volume presents data on the population distribution by age and sex canvassed in the 2006 Census. It contains tables on the Distribution of Population by Age and Sex for all 36 states and the FCT arranged in alphabetical order. Under each state, the corresponding tables for the Local Government Areas are presented.

Find below explanations of some of the concepts used in this publication:

Sex: This is the gender of the respondents and it can either be male or female

Age: This is calculated in completed year or age at last birthday.
