

PREFACE

The All-Russia Population Census-2002 was conducted for the period of October 9-16 in accordance with the Federal Law No. 8-FZ "On the All-Russia Population Census" of 25 January, 2002, the Resolution of the Government of the Russian Federation No. 231 "On organization of the All-Russia Population Census in 2002" of 12 April, 2002. Coordination of works was managed by the State commission established by the Resolution of the Government of the Russian Federation No. 1434 of 23 December, 1999.

The main results of this Population Census have been published in 14 subject-matter volumes during 2004-2005.

Volume 1 – Population size and its location

The volume provides data on population enumerated during the All-Russia Population Census-2002, changes of the population size of the Russian Federation in comparison with previous census, urban and rural population, including males and females. Population size of Federal Districts, regions, districts, urban and rural settlements with the population size of 3 thousand persons and more is presented. Information on territory, number of districts, settlements and rural administration is also given. There are data on towns, urban and rural settlements and rural administrations grouped by the population size.

Tables include information on population of the Russian Federation as a whole and its Federal districts and regions.

Volume 2 – Population by age and sex and marital status

The volume contains information on size of urban and rural population, males and females by one-year groups (for entire Russia) and five-year groups, data on distribution of urban and rural, male and female population of 16 years and over (including persons under 16 years who stated married) by age groups and marital status.

Tables include information on population of the entire Russian Federation and also its Federal districts and regions. Data are presented both by absolute and relative indicators.

Volume 3 – Educational attainment

The volume presents data on distribution of total population and employed urban and rural population, males and females of 15 years and over by age groups and educational attainment. Data on children of 3-9 years by enrollment in preschool and general educational establishments and by regions of the Russian Federation are also presented.

Tables include information on population of the Russian Federation as well as its Federal districts and regions. Data are presented both by absolute and relative indicators.

Volume 4 – National composition, knowledge of languages and citizenship

This volume includes information on national composition of urban and rural population, males and females by nationality and knowledge of languages. There are characteristics of selected nationalities by age groups and sex, marital status and level of education and by sources of means of subsistence. Distribution of population by citizenship and age groups is also given in the volume.

Tables include information on population of the entire Russian Federation and its Federal districts and regions.

Volume 5 – Sources of means of subsistence

The volume includes data on urban and rural population size, males and females by sources of means of subsistence and age groups, as well as by number of sources of means of subsistence.

Tables include information on population of the Russian Federation as a whole and its Federal districts and regions.

Volume 6 – Number and composition of households

The volume contains data on number and composition of households and number of homeless, breakdown of households consisting of two or more persons, type of households and number of children under 18 years, on number of employed members of households, number of dependants as well as data on number of nationally homogeneous and mixed households. Characteristics of households composed of one person are given with distribution by age groups and sources of means of subsistence. Breakdown of population of private and collective households are presented by sex and age groups.

Tables include information on population of the Russian Federation as well as its Federal districts and regions.

Volume 7 – Economically active and inactive population

Data on distribution of urban and rural population of private households, male and female population of 15-64 years by economic activity and age groups, educational attainment and territory of job are given in the volume. Characteristics of population of 15 years and over employed in the economy by status in employment are presented.

Tables include information on population of the Russian Federation as a whole and its Federal districts and regions. Data are presented both by absolute and relative indicators.

Volume 8 – Employed population by kinds of economic activity

Data on distribution of urban and rural, male and female population 15-64 years old employed in the economy by kind of economic activity and age groups, educational attainment and status in employment are presented in the volume.

Tables of the volume include information on population of private households for the Russian Federation and its Federal districts and regions. Data are presented both by absolute and relative indicators.

Volume 9 – Occupations of population

The volume includes data on distribution of urban and rural population, males and females 15-64 years old employed in the economy by occupations and age groups, educational attainment, status in employment.

Tables of the volume include information on population of private households for the entire Russian Federation and its Federal districts and regions. Data are presented both by absolute and relative indicators.

Volume 10 – Duration of living at place of permanent residence

The volume contains data on distribution of urban and rural population of private households, males and females by duration of living at place of permanent residence, by age groups, place of living in January 1989 and place of birth. Data on those temporary presenting on the territory of the Russian Federation are also included in this volume and grouped by the country of permanent residence, age groups and purposes of visits.

Information is presented for the entire Russian Federation and its Federal districts and regions.

Volume 11 – Housing conditions

This volume provides data on breakdown of urban and rural population by types of occupied dwellings. Characteristics of private households by number of occupied rooms, per capita average floor space, period of construction and construction materials of buildings, types of equipment facilities of dwellings are provided. Distribution of dwellings by types and number of private households living in is presented.

Tables present information on the entire Russian Federation and its Federal districts and regions.

Volume 12 – Fertility

The volume includes data on women of 15 years and over, living in urban and rural settlements with breakdown by age groups and number of children. Distribution of married women and women employed in the economy as well as women of selected nationalities by age groups and number of children born is presented. Information on average number of children born by women with different educational attainment is given.

Tables present information on the entire Russian Federation and its Federal districts and regions. Results are presented both by absolute and relative indicators.

Volume 13 – Indigenous minority nationalities of the Russian Federation

The volume contains data on population size, composition and main characteristics of indigenous minority nationalities of Russia: age and sex structure, marital status, knowledge of languages, educational attainment, sources of means of subsistence, status in employment. More detailed data are given for indigenous minority nationalities of the Far North including economic activity, kinds of economic activity, occupations and fertility. Presented tables provide information on location of indigenous minority nationalities on the territory of the Russian Federation.

Volume 14 – All-Russia Population Census - 2002. Basic results

This volume provides data on urban and rural population size, age and sex structure of population, marital status, fertility, educational attainment, national identity, knowledge of languages, citizenship. There are also data on number and composition of households, housing conditions, sources of means of subsistence and duration of living at place of permanent residence. Besides the volume includes information on those temporary stayed on the territory of the Russian Federation.

Tables contain information on the entire Russian Federation and its Federal districts and regions. Selected data are given in comparison with data of the 1989 Population Census. Data are presented both by absolute and relative indicators.

Above-mentioned 14 volumes do not cover all the information on the Population Census-2002. Alongside with hard copies data can be provided on CD-ROM, Internet and more detailed information can be compiled for individual requests.

For further information on publications of the All-Russia Population Census results please contact Information and Publishing Center «Statistics of Russia»:

39, Myasnitskaya Str., 107450, Moscow, Russia
tel./fax: +7 (495) 207-4941, 207-4252
e-mail: info@gks.ru
<http://www.infostat.ru>

The following designations are used in the book:

- not applicable;
- ... no data available;
- 0 the value is less than the 1;
- 0,0 the value is less than the 0,1.