DEFINITIONS

Household is a group of people who live in a common dwelling (at the same address) and share joint financial and/or food resources. Persons included in the household are members of the household. A household may also consist of one member only.

Household number is a special identifying code of the household, which is given to the household upon inclusion into the survey. The household number is given to the interviewer with his sample information.

Temporarily absent primarily means that the person who is absent will presumably return to the household after the end of her trip, studies, or other engagement. In general, the respondent can decide whether the contact with the person who is absent is close enough to consider her a member of the household. If the person who is absent has formed her own family and lives on her own on a permanent basis, she is not considered a member of the respondent's household. Even if, for example, she may still have her own room at her parents' house and she may receive regular financial help from the parent household.

Sample household is a household, which contains at least one sample person.

Sample persons are all household members, who were 14 years old or older on January 1st of the survey year when the household was first included in the survey. It is indicated in the protocol whether the member is a sample person. Only sample persons are traced.

New household member is a household member who has joined the sample person's household after the previous time the household was interviewed for the Estonian Social Survey.

Guest is a person who does not belong to the household but has spent at least three months in the household during the previous calendar year.

Initial household is a sample household where at least one household member is a sample person living in the same dwelling as during the previous survey year. If none of the households to which sample persons belong live at the same address, the initial household is considered to be the one containing the sample person with the smallest personal number.

Split-off household is a new household formed by a sample person who has left the initial household and started to live separately.

New household is a household that is included in the survey as of this year.

Split number is a two-figure code, which shows the division of the initial household. The split number of a new household and of most initial households is 00. An interviewer gives the split number to new split-off households: it is the first vacant split number displayed to the interviewer by the data entry program.

Household member's number is a special identifying code that each person is attributed upon their inclusion into the survey. The household member's number or the personal ID is formed according to a fixed regulation from Eurostat. Each household member's number is unique and it consists of three parts: the household number (6 figures) + the split number (2 figures) + the reference number of the person (2 figures). A household member's number is unchangeable throughout her time in the survey.

For household members known from the previous year's interview, the household member's number is given to the interviewer to take along on the sample information sheet. From there the interviewer writes the numbers into question XX1 of section X. In section YA, the interviewer takes the last four figures of the household member's numbers of the known members from section X or from the protocol (in case of split-off households). The interviewer gives the last four figures to new members or to the members of new households as follows:

1) to new members in the split-off or initial household

- a) the first two figures: split number – looks from the household questionnaire;
- b) the next two figures: the first vacant reference number of a household member in this household – data entry program gives automatically;

2) to the members of a new household

- a) the first two figures: split number – always 00;
- b) the next two figures: the reference number of a household member – according to the column number (YX1).

The interviewer cannot give the last four figures of the household member's number to a person who has participated in the survey last year but has moved to another sample household (new members in the initial or split-off household (BX = 1 or 2 and BA1 = 1) and who also participated last year (BA4 = 1), or a member of a new household (BX = 3) who participated in the survey last year as well (BA4 = 1)). The described situation is exceptional. As a result the interviewer must very thoroughly double-check it.

WRITE THE DATA OF ALL THE MEMBERS OF THE HOUSEHOLD INTO THE TABLE BELOW. WITH AN INITIAL HOUSEHOLD, WRITE FIRST THE KNOWN MEMBERS WHO STILL BELONG TO THE HOUSEHOLD FROM SECTION X AND AFTER THEM NEW MEMBERS. The first part of the survey concerns the structure of your household and general information about the members of your household. A household is a group of people who live in a common dwelling (at the same address) and share joint financial and/or food resources. Persons included in the household are members of the household. A household may also consist of one member only.

HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS ARE PEOPLE WHO SHARE IN THE HOUSEHOLD'S EXPENSES, LIVE IN THE COMMON DWELLING AND HOLD NO PERMANENT RESIDENCE ELSEWHERE. TEMPORARILY ABSENT HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS SHOULD BE CONSIDERED MEMBERS IF THEY:
