Questionnaire:

English, Malay, Mandarin Questionnaires. Field pre-testing was carried out in the state of Selangor, of the questionnaire. Twenty five (25) questionnaires were distributed to persons of varying socio-economic backgrounds. Cognitive interviews were carried out with the respondents after the questionnaires were answered, to determine questions in the survey that posed problems to them, in terms of interpretation, recalling and articulation of the required information V114 (The expression of Left-right self-placement for political party is not common in Malaysia); V165 (There is no Malay equivalent for Millennium Development Goals); V186 (Since Malaysia is a multi-religious country, the number of prayer times provided by WVS does not fit well); V206 (There is no Malay equivalent for euthanasia); V231-233 (It is not a norm for Malaysians to reveal the preference of political party in public or to stranger) V131, V146, V222, V256, V257 and V258 were altered to reflect Malaysias geographical location, linguistic, and demographic characteristics. Questions V114, V186, V231, V232, V233, and V233a . Question V186 was replaced by question V186a, as Malaysia is an Islamic society. Therefore, respondents were asked how frequently they pray. Questions V231 to V233 were excluded as they were too politically sensitive in nature and might dissuade respondents from participating in the survey. Questions V114 and V233a were irrelevant to the nature of Malaysias political parties alignment, which are aligned not according to liberal or conservative ideals, but according to ethnicity.
