Data Collection Organization:

Dpt. of Political Science and Diplomacy, Ewha Womens University

Fieldwork Period:

10-11-2001 - 21-11-2001.

Universe:

National Population, Both sexes, 18 and more years

Sample size:

1200

Estimated Error:

2,9

Questionnaire:

The WVS questionnaire was translated from the English questionnaire by a member of the research team. The translated questionnaire was not back-translated into English; and was not pre-tested. There have not been any optional WVS questions and/or items been included, however country-specific questions were included at the end of the questionnaire, just before the demographics. All questions asked were in the prescribed order. Nevertheless, a number of questions were omitted because they were not relevant to Korean situations: V53, V67, V160-161, V176, V191-195, V204, V218-222, V227-228, V235, V237-244. The sample was designed to be representative of the entire adult population, i.e. 18 years and older, of your country. The lower age cut-off for the sample was 20 and there was not any upper age cut-off for the sample.

Sample:

The different stages in the sampling procedure were: Our survey design called for interviews with a sample of  $n = 1,200$  adults who were 20 years and older, living in private dwelling units. The sample was to be taken as selection of 120 clusters with a sample of 10 chosen from the household of each of the selected clusters. The final numbers of clusters or sampling points were 120. The sample unit got from the office sampling was the household. The selection method used was: -First, it was obtained 120 clusters (town or villages) though probabilities Proportional to Size Measure (PPS). -

Second, two smaller blocks were selected from each cluster. -Third, 5 households were selected within one smaller block by an appointed procedure. -Fourth, the interviewers called at selected households and interviewed with the person whose birthday was earliest among the family members were 20 years and older. Substitution was permitted if selected sample areas were non-residential or commercial quarters it was allowed to select contiguous residential quarter.

Remarks about sampling:

-Final numbers of clusters or sampling points: 120 -Sample unit from office sampling: Household

Survey procedure:

Personal Face to Face Interview

Fieldwork:

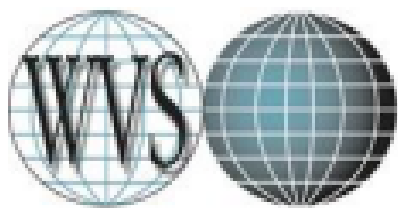

Interviewers were paid according to performance. The interviews were not supervised and were not back-checked.

Response rate:

There were some limitations of the realised sample. It was not measure non-response rates. In sample design, we did not include islands into primary sampling area, because of survey costs.

Weighting:

Yes On the basis of age and schooling distributions of target population (2000 Korean Census data), the observations were weighted. Age and schooling distribution were divided into five groups: 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59 and 60 years and older. Schooling group: primary school, middle school, high school, university-level education without degree, university level education with degree and over.
