Commented [a2]: We want to capture both the respondents immediate family (parents household) and any family they have started on their own (married)

LL: I'm a little concerned that the questions below refer to just "household", but it seems repetitive to say for each your parents' household and if you are married, your and your parents' household. It might be best to leave it as is and see how the piloting goes. But this is something to ask MMCG.

Interviewer: Must read the following definition of household before asking questions.

Commented [a22]: Also add instructions to codebook.

Commented [Ken Lee23]: For Leigh: this is a very tough question since "primary owner/user" is quite hard to define. Does it count as the primary owner if this person is a joint owner? E.g. father paid for everything to own a house but listed his child as a co-owner.

Commented [Ken Lee24]: For Boloroo: please look at the translation of "owner" vs "user". Bayarmaa said it is not good in the Mongolian version.

BN: Yes, Bayarmaa's correct. We need to have clear definition on who is owner and who's user. In Mongolian there are 3 different words used "owner", "possessor" and "user", which MMCG has used. "Possessor" is the confusing word here. It means you don't own the land, but just possess it and use it.

Commented [Ken Lee25]: One hectare is 10,000sq m. Mongolians find this much easier.

Commented [Ken Lee26]: ownership certificate means that you actually have the rights to the land.

11. SKILL TEST

Now we will administer the skill tests. The tests may or may not be familiar to you but please try your best to do well on the tests as it is important for the purpose of research. Also, you will receive payment for taking the tests, which will be higher if you achieve a higher score.

Commented [Ken Lee32]: For Leigh: we need to decide the amount. We experimented with giving respondents MNT 4,000 flat fee for completing the questionnaire and getting up to MNT 1,000 per test depending on the score. The maximum we can give is MNT 7,000 as stated in the TOR.
