ABSTRACT

Following an outbreak of violence on 25 August 2017 in Rakhine State, Myanmar, a new massive influx of Rohingya refugees to Cox's Bazar, Bangladesh started in late August 2017. Most of the Rohingya refugees settled in Ukhia and Teknaf Upazilas of Cox's Bazar, a district bordering Myanmar identified as the main entry area for border crossings.

This dataset presents the result of the NPM Round 12 Site Assessment exercise, which collected information related to the Rohingya refugee population distribution and needs during the months of August, September and October 2018.

- The data collection for NPM baseline survey was conducted between 9 August and 4 September 2018: it provides an update about the population distribution and movements.
- The data collection for NPM Site Assessment survey was conducted between 23 September and 10 October 2018: in addition to an update about the population figures, this includes a multi-sectoral needs assessment.
